

The department “Agricultural Market, Marketing and Agricultural Trade” of the Leibniz Institute of Agricultural Development in Transition Economies (IAMO) invites applications for a

Student assistant position (m/f/d)

Students from economics, agricultural economics, geography (International Area Studies) or matching fields are welcome to submit applications.

Tasks and responsibilities

- Literature search and review
- Data collection and management
- Text editing
- Assistance at scientific events

Main tasks

- Fluent in spoken and written English and/or German
- French, Russian, or Arabic language skills are an asset
- Very good software skills (MS Office)
- Skills in statistical software (e.g. STATA, SPSS, R) are desired

What we offer

- Salary based on TdL (Tarifgemeinschaft deutscher Länder für studentische / wissenschaftliche Hilfskräfte)
- Contract for up to 80 hours per month, according to arrangement
- Highly motivated international research environment
- Possible supervision in final assignment projects

About us

The Leibniz Institute of Agricultural Development in Transition Economies (www.iamo.de) is a public research institute based in Halle (Saale). IAMO offers an excellent infrastructure and a stimulating, international, and multidisciplinary working environment. Equality of opportunity is an integral part of our personnel policy. Female applicants are strongly encouraged to apply. Persons with disabilities with equal qualification will be preferentially considered. IAMO also explicitly invites students with migration background to submit applications.

Please send your application, including a motivational letter, CV and relevant certificates in one single PDF file to Mrs. Antje Elsner (application.agmarkets@iamo.de). The application remains open until the position is filled.

Please note the data protection information for applications in accordance with Art. 13 DSGVO on data processing in the application process under the following link: <https://www.iamo.de/en/top-navigation/data-protection/>.