

Seminar Series on Research Data, Methods and Scientific Writing (online)

Leibniz Institute of Agricultural Development in Transition Economies (IAMO) organizes the Seminars Series in the frame of the Project “Land reform in Ukraine: new perspectives and challenges for sustainable development of the agricultural sector and rural areas” (Landreform UA). The project is financially supported by the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) with funds from the German Foreign Office (AA).

The aim of the seminars series is to improve participants’ practical and basic methodological skills for preparation and working on their research projects. Participants will become familiar with necessary methodological basics for obtaining and processing research, methods commonly used for the analysis of scientific issues in agricultural economics and will also improve their skills which are required for the publication of research results in peer-reviewed journals and ultimately for scientific communication.

The series consist of 3 one-day seminars:

1. High quality research data - Introduction and issues of representativeness – on 2 June 2022 (in English)
2. Writing and Submitting a Conference Paper or Extended Abstract - on 9 June 2022 (in Ukrainian)
3. Empirical research in ag and development economics: How to design a sound empirical project? – on 8 September 2022 (in Ukrainian)

Please note the language of the seminars!
